

Finding an Apprenticeship-

The best way to find apprenticeship vacancies is by searching on <https://www.getingofar.gov.uk/> This site gives you information on apprenticeships as well as showing the latest vacancies and tells you about each apprenticeship and how to apply.

If you are year 11 and looking for an Apprenticeship you should be using this site regularly from March as there will be vacancies on the site from March that start in August/September. When you apply for an apprenticeship vacancy online the college or learning provider who is looking after the apprenticeship vacancy will then be in touch with you directly.

You can also contact your local college and talk to them about an apprenticeship. Colleges will normally support you to find an apprenticeship and link you with an employer.

It's also worth approaching specific employers directly too if you want to be really proactive. Some employers may be thinking about employing an apprentice but have not got as far as advertising it yet.
